

aching pain in its inside.
Suppuration is markedly absent

or is seldom established in the swelling in this form of Galaganda. A vapid taste in the mouth, together with a
feeling

of parchedness of the throat and the palate, is the specific concomitant of the type of Goitre which has its seat in the deranged Kaphah. The swelling is felt cold and firm to

touch, and becomes heavy and glossy in this type of the disease. A sweet taste in the mouth, together with the

of a sticky mucous-deposit lying on the lining membranes of

the throat and the palate, forms the specific features of

type of Goitre which is brought about through the agency of the deranged fat. The swelling, which* is marked by the presence of a little pain and an,
excessive itching sensation, becomes heavy, looks grey and glossy, and is found to be markedly slow in its growth and suppurative. It emits a kind of offensive smell and hangs down short-based from

neck of the patient) like a pendent gourd, decreasing or increasing in size as the patient loses or gains flesh.

face of the patient looks glossy with a sort of oily deposit

on the skin of the cheeks and forehead, and a sort of croaking

sound is heard inside the body of the goitre. A patient with a goitre of more than a year's growth and afflicted with dyspnoea, weakness, aphonia* looseness of the
limbs
and a distaste for food should be abandoned as
all cure.

called Gandamalas. These swellings are found to be very slow of suppuration. The disease in which some of these

glands are found, to suppurate and to
spontaneously burst
